BOY FATALLY HURT IN FARM ACCIDENT

Edward Umek, Jr., 3½ year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Umek, of 158th street and 112th avenue, Orland township, was fatally injured in an accident which occurred while he was visiting with his parents at the Louis Lucas farm, 159th and Wolf road, on Labor day.

Mr. Lucas, who was recently married to Mrs. Umek's mother, was sawing wood with the help of Umek and Mr. LeFever, who, with his wife, was also visiting the farm.

According to Will county coroner, Willard A. Blood, the little lad was playing behind the tractor with two other boys. Edward got too close to the machine and the leg of his trousers became caught in the power take-off shaft. He was whirled and swung completely around in the air by the machine before his mother could pull him free of the tractor. His head struck the draw bar causing a skull fracture and severe internal injuries.

The Gerhartz ambulance was called from Lemont and rushed the boy to St. Joseph's hospital. He remained conscious for a short time but died about 9:45. The accident had happened about 6 p.m.

In addition to his parents the boy is survived by his infant sister, 15 months old, Sandra Lee. The body was removed to the Schmaedeke funeral home in Orland. Funeral services were held Thursday morning, September 6, at St. Michael's church in Orland, and interment was in St. Michael's cemetery.

Bowlers Plan to Form Mixed League

The Bright Lanes Bowling league has been organized with 18 men and 18 women members. They plan to bowl every Thursday night starting at 9 o'clock, September 20, and continuing for 36 weeks.

The 36 members will be divided into 18 pairs, each pair playing as partners and competing with the other bowlers in the league. The partners will be paired according to their average beginning with the highest and the lowest members, but partners must be a man and woman.

All partners will add their scores together and bowl with a handicap based on 80% of the difference between 400 pins and their actual score for each game. Bowlers arriving after their partners have completed five frames will be counted absent for that game. His or her average will be counted in the score minus five pins.

The league is to be divided into three ten-night schedules and members are to bowl ten nights with the same partners. The partners with the high total pins are each to receive a trophy at the end of this period.

At this time 36 bowlers will be regrouped with new partners based on their average at the time. The new partners then bowl together for the next ten weeks and two trophies will be awarded to the winning pair.

After the same regrouping is done for the last ten weeks the three winning couples may bowl for the championship at the end of the season. Anyone interested in joining the league is asked to contact Les Brownlee.

Raise Alarm When N. L. Tot is 'Lost'

Tommy, the four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Baldwin, of North Cooper road, New Lenox, disappeared Tuesday while playing near his home. While his mother was looking for him a neighbor child came out of the woods near Hickory creek and she presumed that Tommy had followed him into the woods. After she had made an extended search for him and he had been missing for some time she summoned help.

Amos Bruns, the village police and health commissioner, was called and he asked the aid of the fire department and Lions' members. They went to the Baldwin home to secure a description of the missing boy. This was about 6:20 and by that time he had been missing for four hours. While conferring with the child's mother one of the group noticed a child coming toward them; it was the missing boy. He had been in the house, asleep under the bed during all the excitement.

Further investigation disclosed the reason for his hidden nap place. Tommy had been throwing stones and his mother had told him she would spank him if he persisted in this offense. Tommy, to avoid further complications, crawled under the bed and there fell asleep. The sound of the fire siren and other interesting noises caused by the commotion intrigued him and he came out to investigate.

STYLE SHOW AT ORLAND WED.

With the coming of the fall season the woman of the house usually starts thinking about something new to wear.

With this in mind, the Orland Park Junior woman's club decided to do something about it with the result that on Wednesday evening, September 12 at 8 o'clock they will present a fashion show. The place will be the gymnasium of the Orland Park public school.

Mrs. Franklin Loebe, general chairman of the show, has contacted an outstanding lecturer, Lois Etzold, who was formerly with the Patricia Stevens studio in Chicago as a director and instructor. She will give an interesting discussion on poise and charm. Miss Etzold is recognized as an authority on this subject. She served as an outstanding fashion model for 15 years; was a coordinator and fashion show producer for many top department stores. She is a well known writer and lecturer on beauty and fashion subjects.

Dresses for the show are being furnished by Charlotte's Dress Shop at Dolton and the Studio Hat shop in Blue Island is furnishing the millinery.

As this is a most interesting program, the members of the club are looking forward to seeing many women from Orland and the surrounding communities. Tickets may be purchased from any club member or by calling Mrs. Franklin Loebe at Orland Park 58, or at the door.

Refreshments will be served following the show.

Mokena Board Plans New Water-Sewer System; To Improve Streets and Hall

The Mokena village board, at the regular meeting Tuesday night, took definite steps toward planning a water and sewer system for the village which will meet with the approval of the state board of health. Complaints were received from property owners on the outskirts of the village that sewage from the south side of town is being drained onto their property, with evidence that some of the septic tanks are not in working order. The board also received complaints from owners in other sections about broken tiles and improperly working drains.

A petition was filed with the village clerk, by Charles Burkhardt and signed by the property owners of the area of Carpenter street and Tinley Park road, asking the board to install a water main which will form a complete circuit around this area furnishing better water for household use and an adequate supply for fire protection. A report was made that a privately installed pipe which supplies water to the residents on West Front street is in bad condition and inadequate for their needs. The village clerk was instructed to contact the engineers who made the first sewer survey about 20 years ago and ask for a review of their findings at that time. A suggestion was made to make a combined project of the water and sewer systems and a special meeting will be held in the near future to give the board members an opportunity to hear representatives of the engineering company.

An announcement was made that water meters are now available and that the New Lenox Lumber company is prepared to service meters out of repair. Harry Miller, village treasurer, will notify water users that bills will be payable to him or at Boleman's drug store on and after October 1.

Four deaths in a family of five were the result of a crash of a family car and an empty auto-carrier truck at Harlem avenue and Lincoln highway, Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. A fifth member of the family and the driver of the truck are suffering from severe injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Richardson and three children, of Tarrytown, N. Y., had been visiting Mrs. Richardson's sister, Mrs. Anna H. Nevins, at Gary, Ind., and were on their way to 82nd street and Ewing avenue, where they planned to conclude the purchase of a filling station. They lost their way turning south instead of north at Harlem and 159th. As the two vehicles collided at the corner the car, hit in the center by the truck, was almost completely demolished.

Robert Spencer, 42, of Clinton, Iowa, driver of the truck, was hurled out of the truck cab as the tractor and front of the trailer jackknifed. He was thrown a few feet from the truck which was afire from spilled gasoline, and was pulled to safety by Michael Squiller, who operates Arch Inn, near the intersection. When he was removed to St. James hospital, Chicago Heights, he was semi-conscious but said later that Richardson failed to obey the stop sign.

The dead are Mr. Richardson, 47, and son Daniel I., who were pronounced dead at the hospital, his wife, Irene, 46, and son James, 12, who were found dead at the scene, and the injured are the truck driver and Richardson's daughter Mary, 10, who is also in St. James.

According to latest reports the girl suffered severe head and face injuries and the driver, who was badly hurt, is reported to be suffering from a broken back. The Frankfort and Park Forest fire departments were called as the highway was covered with a sheet of flame as the result of a series of explosions which followed the collision.

Rev. Kerr Returns From European Trip

Rev. William N. Kerr, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church at Lincoln Estates and who has been on a tour of the Holy Land and European countries, has returned and will occupy his pulpit this Sunday morning at the usual hour.

Evangelistic services will begin in the Calvary Baptist church starting Sunday, September 9 and continue through the following Sunday except Saturday. Donald Forbes will be the speaker at these services.

old Miller, village treasurer, will notify water users that bills will be payable to him or at Boleman's drug store on and after October 1.

Harry Schenk, village attorney, submitted a tax levy ordinance which was approved by the board. He discussed a new state law recently passed that municipalities must fix tax rates before December 31 of each year. These may be (1) the same rates as have prevailed, (2) rates increased 10% over the rate of 1946, by a two-thirds vote of the board, this action to be published 20 days before going into effect, or (3) a vote by referendum may be called for, by petition, to increase the tax rates.

The board discussed repairs and redecorating for the village hall and the removal and storage of outdated fire equipment. The VFW was given permission to advertise their fall festival to be given on the VFW premises September 16.

The state estimate on repairs and improvements on village streets was approved and returned to the local state engineer's office. After its acceptance and O. K. by the state office the board will be empowered to advertise for bids on the work. This project will be paid for by state motor fuel tax funds.

Several complaints were received about speeders on Parker street and the board was asked to have a slow sign placed there. Members of the board plan to arrest and prosecute speeders and other traffic rule violators, imposing fines with cost allowed under the code. Trustee badges were distributed to the board members, who are vested with police authority because of their membership on the board.

Why Is the Church?

Lesson for September 9, 1951

WHAT use is the church? What difference would it make if it were disbanded?

A woman bought a vacuum cleaner on trial, but after using it a while she decided it wasn't any better than an old-fashioned carpet-sweeper and she sent for the man to take it away. When he came around, he discovered that she really did not know how to use the thing. All the attachments were still in the box; she had never found out what they were good for and so she never realized how useful a "vac" can be.

It is something like that with the church. It has many uses which are seldom discovered.

Tell the Church

THE main and most important feature of the church is that it is a fellowship. This should be far more, far deeper, than a mere label.

One rarely-used function of the church was suggested by Jesus. In a quarrel, he said, the first thing to do is to settle it between yourselves. If that will not do, then take a few people with you and see if a small group can reach agreement. If not then "tell the church."

Probably the average congregation today, as a whole, would be a poor judge of quarrels. But suppose some church tried the experiment of forming a kind of consultation-group, made up of the wisest and most Christian persons in it; and suppose members of the church who had differences which would ordinarily be taken into court, were encouraged to consult those counselors for help—wouldn't some quarrels, that now reach the courts, never get that far?

Common Treasury

SOME weeks ago it was suggested here that in some communities the church sees to it that no member of the church goes without a job. It is also a fact that in some congregations either a committee of the officers, or the minister, is entrusted with a fund, sometimes called the Deacons' Fund and sometimes the Emergency Fund, to be used in taking care of real financial emergencies, for the benefit of the members.

Sometimes it is used as a revolving loan fund, sometimes as outright gifts. No detailed accounting is made, because it is important that no publicity be given to the needy cases; hence those who administer the funds have to be persons who can be fully trusted.

The "needy cases" may not be charity cases in the usual sense.

The point is that a church can be a fellowship so close that a person in physical or financial need would think of it as a source of help just as quickly as he would think of his own family. It is his family.

Making Love Real

THE fact is, if there had not been real fellowship in the church all these centuries, it would not have lasted as it has. No outfit can run on and on for centuries if all it does is to provide jobs for a few jobholders.

No, there has been real family fellowship in the church. It does not always come out in official actions of church boards, but the thing is there. Preachers talk about love, and Sunday school lessons mention it. But this is not all. There are enough persons in the church making love real, (see Moffatt's translation of 1 John 3:18), to more than justify the church's existence.

A poor woman who was in the grip of the drink habit had a Christian woman friend. This friend said to her, "When you feel the craving coming on, even if it's in the middle of the night, call me and I'll come right down and we'll fight it through and pray it through together."

That was what did it. Not the sermons, not the books on temperance, but the fellowship of a woman who would get up in the middle of the night to help her friend through a desperate struggle.

Happy is the person who finds a church where there are people like that. For that is what Christian fellowship is: making the other person's cause and troubles your own.

Your STATE of Health

ROLAND R. CROSS, M.D., Director
Missouri Department of Public Health

POLIO PREPAREDNESS

Preparations for giving the best possible care to polio victims have been made by your state Department of Public Health working with local hospitals and private physicians and health groups throughout the state.

Each individual, however, has the primary responsibility in preparing against polio.
Much remains to be learned about prevention of polio, so precautions against this disease are, for the most part, rules of community sanitation and good personal hygiene that should be followed even in the absence of a polio threat.

Precautions
Your food and water should be obtained only from safe sources. Overfatigue should be avoided. Shun crowded places, especially indoors.

Flies, mice, rats and other disease carrying vermin should be eradicated and kept out of your home.
Don't travel in areas where there are many polio cases.

Avoid swimming in insanitary pools. If there is polio in an area, don't swim in ponds, rivers, lakes or other natural waters.

Postpone nose, throat and dental operations until the polio season has passed except in cases of emergency.

Seldom Fatal
Polio is very seldom fatal and results in permanent crippling in relatively few cases.

In less than 50 per cent of the paralyzing cases do patients suffer damaging after-effects. Crippling which results in few cases can be corrected often by surgery or other treatment.

Prompt diagnosis and immediate treatment of polio offers the greatest chance of complete recovery.
It is up to parents to keep a careful watch on their children during the summer polio season to note as soon as possible any possible polio symptoms.

These are varied and not always easily recognized. The best "rule of thumb" is to consult your doctor immediately if your child shows any signs of illness, nausea or stiffness.

Although polio is not as serious as we were once led to believe, it is still a potential threat not to be minimized.

Follow the dictates of good sense and practice good hygiene. These are the best known preparations against polio.

Incinerators are one of the worst types of offenders in air purification programs, and are often fire hazards as well as sources of disagreeable odors.

LET'S PLAY BASEBALL

PEOTONE LITTLE CATS TROUNCE HALF SOX

An over-confident group of Tinley Little Leaguers playing before the home crowd couldn't seem to do anything right Tuesday, August 28, and as a result lost to the Little Cats by a score of 14 to 4.

Russell, the ace of the Peotone staff, started on the mound and even though he tired in the last inning had the game under complete control all the way as the Half Sox cut thin air with their bats or dribbled little rollers to the infield.

The Half Sox were able to garner only four hits in the game and they were all singles, but with the aid of walks in the latter part of the game they were able to push four runs across the plate.

Propp started on the mound for the Half Sox and was hit hard by the Peotone lads. His support outfield was very poor and Peotone jumped to an early lead which was never threatened. Hug came in to throw in the first of the fourth and he was unable to stop the barrage. Siemsen was the power hitter in the Peotone lineup with three triples in three official trips to the plate.

HALF SOX DEFEAT CHGO. HGTS. VFW 7-0

The Half Sox finished their season September 1 in grand style by defeating the strong VFW team of the Chicago Heights League behind the brilliant hurling of Ronnie Stege on the Little League diamond in Chicago Heights.

Ronnie had a no-hitter going into the last half of the sixth inning when Debuch leading off, lined a sharp single to center field. Ronnie then struck out the next three batters to end the ball game.

The Half Sox played errorless ball afield and looked very good up to the plate getting eleven hits off three VFW pitchers which enabled them to score seven runs.

Coondog Field Trials

THE NEWEST AND GROWING MIDWEST SPORT

Coonhound field trials, the newest sport in the Midwest, has been growing in popularity the past few years, chiefly because it has a distinct advantage over other kinds of dog trials in that it may be controlled completely.

The hounds in these trials are carefully trained and handled since the prize money is substantial and rivalry between owners is keen and exciting. Trials, staged even on a local scale, will frequently draw entries from neighboring states, and the large sectional and national trials have as many as six to seven hundred entries. It is not unusual to find West Coast coonhound enthusiasts running their dogs in trials as far east as Ohio and many times "Down Easterners" may be met "way out west in Kansas."

Audience participation has added a new zest to the trials. Each heat, with ten to twelve dogs, is actually a race in itself, with the winners meeting in the grand final, in the race for the big money. Prizes are awarded on the basis of (1), the first dog to run between two flags placed at a given distance from the tree in which a live coon has been placed called the "line winner," and (2) for the first dog to bark up the tree at the coon termed the "tree winner." It is possible for a dog to win both.

Before each heat, the entries are "auctioned off" with the spectators, as well as the handlers, bidding for the dog on "the line" and "to tree." The bidders whose dogs win in each phase collect the pool. Many times an owner will not meet the price bid on his dog and some spectators ends with money on someone else's hound.

Selecting a dog in this Calcutta-like pool requires skill and judgment and many avid coonhound fans soon learn to evaluate a dog on his past performances as well as their opinion of what makes a good "line dog" or a good "treer."

Dogs have numbers painted on their sides for quick and accurate identification by the judges. Many times, the younger members of the family help "dad" with handling his dogs at field trials.

It makes little difference as to the types of dogs entered and little importance is placed on breeding or registration. The four breeds generally accepted as "coonhounds" include the Black and Tan, the Blue-tick, the Redbone and the Treeing Walker. Crosses between these breeds are rated highly by some, while others try to get a strain of Greyhound or Whippet blood in their hounds in an effort to develop a fast "line dog." Many times these folks are disappointed as their "hybrid" may be fast but won't have the "nose" for following the track.

The heats are run over a course ranging from a mile to two miles, ending at the tree within full view of the spectators. A coon scent in a bag is dragged over the course, or track, with a fresh trail for each heat.

Both "tree" and "line" winners in each heat are eligible for the finals when the big prize money is at stake. Some trials have cash prizes for each heat, while in the smaller runs, heat winners are usually awarded ribbons.

Every week-end, from early spring until late fall—while the hunting season is closed—coonhound fans gather to pit their dogs against each other and vie for success in selecting other cooners. The trials have an appeal for young and old alike and many times the family "makes a day of it." Luncheon and refreshments are as much a part of the trial as the running of the heats. Between runs, old time coon hunters and new devotees of the sport swap stories about "Old Dums," "The Zipper" and other coondogs whose memory will never be dimmed!

Family participation includes handling dogs by the youngsters, especially when owners enter more than one hound in the trial. Rules prohibit more than one dog per owner per heat, but it is not rare to have two or three hounds in the finals, owned and handled by the same person.

Professional handlers seldom are found among coondog men, since half the sport is training and handling the dogs. The sport is not one to require heavy capital investment in dogs, like some types, so handling coondogs is readily adapted to a "family hobby."

The dogs are generally classified, when drawn by lot for the heats as "senior dogs" for those hounds which have won a final; "junior dogs," consisting of the group which have won heats, but not finals, and "green dogs" for those yet to earn a ribbon for either "line" or "tree" in a field trial heat.

Records are maintained by county-wide coonhound clubs, state groups and several national associations, with three publications covering the field, "The American Cooner," "Full Cry" and "Mountain Music."

In addition to trials staged by coonhound clubs, many organizations utilize this new sport as a money raising project, taking a small percentage to cover expenses with the average, 25% of the money bid on each heat is retained by the association to cover expenses, while entry fees are used to make up the purses for the final winners.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

There is considerable speculation in Washington as to just who the Defense Department is trying to defend.

So far the only crushing blow dealt by the Defense Department has been to the American free enterprise system.

This fact, brought out in a sharply worded report by the Senate Small Business Committee headed by Sen. John Sparkman, (D. C. W. Harder Ala.), is titled "Concentration of Defense Contracts in Industry."

It shows monopoly has scored its greatest victory since Korea.

The Committee reports that during World War II ten big corporations held 30 per cent of the defense contracts, and 100 corporations had two-thirds.

But now, since Korea, the Big Ten hold 40% of the total new defense contracts, and two-thirds of all contracts are now held by only 50 corporations.

The committee calls for immediate action.

In the language of the report "this trend of concentration of defense contracts must be immediately reversed and defense contracts spread widely in industry to guarantee a broad and growing industrial base, if this top-heavy imbalance is not to undermine our economy, retard our mobilization effort, and entrench monopoly beyond hope of dislodgement in our time."

Probably no bitter criticism of a government agency has ever been launched.

While even those officials in charge of defense publicly wonder why American rearmament, has not moved faster, the Senate Small Business Committee found the answer.

American homes are without adequate defense because of the unbridled greed of a few big monopoly-minded corporations.

These Goliaths, holding the major share of the prime defense contracts are supposed to subcontract parts of the work to independent business firms.

The committee reports this is not being done.

Big corporations, are expanding their plant facilities, encouraged by rapid tax amortizations which will permit them to skim the cream without paying a normal tax. They are sitting on the defense contracts they hold, planning on doing the work that was expected they would subcontract to small firms.

As a matter of fact, these big corporations who hold most of the defense contracts, are still turning out consumer goods at such a rapid rate that there is a surplus of the cars, TV sets, refrigerators and other items they make which they are having trouble selling.

But their smaller competitors, not holding defense contracts, cannot get the raw materials, either, to maintain a high rate of consumer goods production. It's probably the first time in history that a democratic government has made it profitable to play dog in the manger.

Champion Duroc Boar Sells For $4,000

The grand champion boar of nearly 500 Durocs exhibited at the recent Illinois state fair has just been sold for $4,000. Admiral Deluxe Model, shown by J. C. McKee & Son, of Rio, Ill., was named grand champion at the fair last week. Immediately following the Duroc breed show, the champion was sold to McDonnell Farm of Yorkville, for $4,000.

Admiral Deluxe Model won first prize honors in the junior yearling boar class, and was then named grand champion boar of the breed by Judge Harry Russell of the University of Illinois. Another unusual feature was the fact that the 1951 champion was sired by Fenmar Royal Admiral, the 1948 Illinois grand champion.

The grand champion Duroc sow, Fenmar Quality Lass, a junior yearling showed by J. H. Carnicle, of Mt. Sterling, was also sold following the Duroc show. S. I. Kincaid of Fairfield bought the champion sow for $500.

Both the champion boar and sow were bred by Fenmar Farms nationally known Duroc breeders of Orion.

For that dull or tired moment, the greater majority of us will immediately choose a steaming, exhilarating cup of coffee. It is a magic brew to many, a ready source of swift new energy, and a flame over which to rekindle old friendships or to warm those which are new. To others like two old folks, life just wouldn't be complete without

THE OLD COFFEE POT

First thing in the morning,
 Last thing in the night,
 Mom and Pop will always
 Share the same delight...

Through the changing hours
 Of the livelong day
 From the early rosbust
 Till the starlets play.

Mom and Pop return to Their beloved spot
 At the kitchen table
 Near the coffee pot...

Avidly they flavor
 Their coffee with the cream
 And I love to watch them
 As they drink and dream...

They must have their coffee
 When the sun comes up;
 And at night, for certain,
 Each will fill a cup...

Two lives tied together
 By a common knot:
 Coffee hot and fragrant
 From a coffee pot!

Save Labor, Self-Feed Hay and Grain to Cows at Same Time

Hand-feeding grain to dairy cows may be on its way out, according to results from a University of Illinois test.

Replacing this costly chore may be the new idea of self-feeding grain and hay to cows at the same time. For dairymen with pen barns and milking parlors, self-feeding looks as if it should save labor and cut costs nicely.

Dairy scientist K. E. Harshbarger found during a 15-week test last winter that self-fed cows milked just as heavily and their production dropped off no faster than cows fed the usual way. He believes from these results that self-feeding is far more practical than most dairy farmers and scientists think.

Previously self-feeding was considered no good because some cows at too much grain. But in that earlier Illinois test hay, grain and concentrates were offered free-choice in separate troughs.

Harshbarger used three pairs of Holsteins. Each cow received 47 pounds of the self-fed hay and grain mixture per day. It contained 70 percent coarsely ground alfalfa, run through a hammermill with a half-inch screen and 30 percent standard grain mixture made up of ground corn, oats, soybean oil meal, linseed oil meal, bran, bone meal and salt.

One pair of cows received only the self-fed mixture, another pair got the mixture plus 13 pounds of silage daily and the third pair ate the mixture plus 4 1/2 pounds of loose alfalfa each day. The loose hay changed the mixture to 60 percent hay and 40 percent grain for that lot. The three pairs were rotated so that each pair was fed all three rotations in the test.

Average milk production stayed almost the same on each ration. It varied from 29 1/2 to 30 1/2 pounds per cow per day. This was the actual weight of milk converted to 4 percent butterfat level. And on each ration the cows gained between 7 1/2 to 8 1/2 pound in weight daily.

These results show that all three pairs would have done about equally well on the self-fed mixture alone. There was no need for silage or loose hay.

It took only about $20 worth of materials and a couple of hours' time to build the self-feeders. Two 4x8 sheets of 3/8 inch plywood, about 30 feet of scrap 2x4 bracing and about a dozen bolts were needed. The feeders, 4x2x4 feet in size, hold 300-400 pounds of alfalfa-grain mixture.

Self-feeding has several advantages besides saving labor. You get away from feeding grain in the milking parlor. That saves time and is cleaner—no dusty grain in the clean milking parlor, where cows take much longer to eat it than the time needed to milk them anyway. And you get away from feeding grain in a separate stall if you don't feed it in the milking parlor.

As for drawbacks, Harshbarger says the cows wasted about one-sixth of the feed by nosing it up into the bedding. Ordinary uprights built onto the feeder should correct this easily though. The cow could stick her head through them like a station— and could back out—but she couldn't throw her head around and waste feed.

And to feed grain to cows according to production, you could have three feeders for your best, medium and average producers, with different levels of grain in the self-fed mixture for each lot. Harshbarger is going to test this idea this winter, using a new design of feeder and other breeds besides Holsteins.

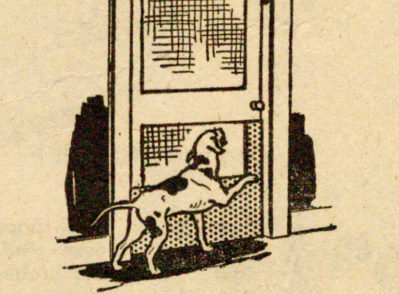

It's up to the agricultural engineers to develop a system of automatic feed grinding and delivery to self-feeders.

Let Fido Scratch!

PUPPIES are fun, but they sometimes are destructive to property. One way to protect a screen door from a puppy's scratching is to attach some Masonite Tempered Preswood around the lower framing and extending over part of the screen, as illustrated.

Fido can scratch on this smooth hardboard all day without injuring it, as it is an extremely dense and tough material.

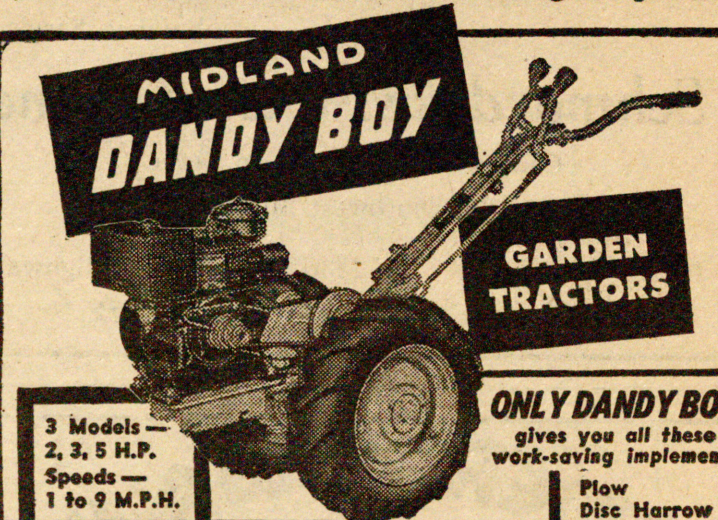

After cutting the Tempered Preswood to size, bevel the edges slightly with a file, plane or sandblock. Then use 1 1/2" brads to fasten the hardboard. If the panels are given a coat of clear penetrating sealer, they will not only retain their natural, attractive dark brown color but won't show Fido's scratches.

Similar panels may be used elsewhere in the home—on doors to guard against Fido's scratching, as kick strips on frequently used doors, and as push panels on swinging doors.

Hi-Klearance PLOWS

Quality built for dependability and long-life, MM Hi-Klearance Plows are famous for light draft, correct scouring, and high lift. Here's the plow with a clearance of 23 1/2-inches between the point of the share and the underside of the beam, (26 1/2-inches on 16-inch plow) A high transporting lift of 10-inches provides easier turning at the ends of the field and prevents dragging of trash and stubble. MM's quick-action Uni-Matic power-lift provides a 7-inch lift without a lever change. A 10-inch lift is used to give extra high clearance when plowing unusually deep or in very soft ground. Since the plow can be set 12-inches deep, it will meet your most extreme needs.

UNI-MATIC POWER

MM's Uni-Matic hydraulic power-lift enables the operator to raise or lower implements automatically, permits pre-selecting or changing tool depth or height of cut. Uni-Matic Power reduces the fatigue, labor and drudgery of farming and is optional with MM's R, Z, U, and G Visionlined tractors. See us for complete facts on MM Uni-Matic Power, Hi-Klearance Plows, MM Modern Machines, Visionlined Tractors and Power Units.
